THE Huntingdon Journal says that "The man who is too poor to take his county paper has purchased a double-barreled gun and keeps four dogs. He takes his bug juice three times a day."

A PARIS correspondent says M. Thiers is rapidly breaking down. He is constantly falling asleep. In meetings of the Cabinet, in prolonged conversations, he falls asleep, no matter what may be the subject under consideration.

THE Board of Indian Commissioners report to the President that they have saved about one million dollars in the purchase of Indian supplies and in other economical measures in their management during the past year.

THE select committe of the French Assembly, appointed to consider the method of forming a new Constitution, have made a report which rejects the plebiscitum, and declares it to be the duty of the National Assembly to make a Constitution.

GOV. WALKER has vetoed the joint resolution of the Legislature suspending the funding of the Virginia State debt; but as the resolution was adopted in the House by over a three-fourths vote, and in the Senate by a two-thirds, the veto will probably be of no avail.

DR. WINES, Secretary of the National Prison Association, has received a commission from President Juarez, authorizing him to represent the Mexican Government at the International Penitentiary Congress of London, and accompanied by an earnest request that he will accept the appointment.

AT a concert in Manchester, lately, the vast audience rose instantly when the sounds of "God bless the Prince of Wales," introduced into the "British Army Quadrille," were heard. A more spontaneous or gratifying exhibition of sympathy with the Prince, under his present affliction, could not have been given.

THE Hartford Courant says: "It is reported that the life of the late James Fisk, Jr., was insured for $300,000. The Charter Oak Life Insurance Co. of this city was offered a risk on his life of $40,000, which the company declined to take. It was urged that he was a good physical risk, but the officers didn't consider him morally sound, and on that account looked upon him as hazardous, and let him alone."

BANKS are springing up in Europe with a mushroom growth. One with a capital of $10,000,000 has been established at Constantinople by the principal firms and financial institutions of Vienna, and another bank, with the same capital, has been started there under the auspices of the Vienna Union Bank. Brussels and Antwerp have also been somewhat astonished by the formation in their midst of banks, each with a capital of $10,000,000.

THE sequel to the atrocious murders perpetrated in Clark county, Indiana, last summer, is now furnished. It will be remembered that several negroes, accused of the murder, were hung by an excited mob. It now appears that the very man who was the most clamorous for lynching the negroes, and the most active in the work of hanging them, is himself the person who committed the horrible crime of which they were accused. So much for mob law.

JOSEPH MAZZINI is reported by telegraph to be seriously ill. He is now in his sixty-fourth year—an age when many active men yield to disease. He was born in Genoa, and was educated for the law, in a college in that city, of which his father was one of the professors, but in early life he became an editor, and soon awakened the suspicion and hostility of the government, and was thrown into prison. He was banished from Italy, ordered out of France, and driven from Switzerland. Taking refuge in England, he remained until 1848, when the revolutions of that year gave him prominence as a reformer, and from that time he has been among the foremost of the Republicans of Europe.

GRANT AS A SOLDIER, AND AS A PRESIDENT.

No President of the United States has ever escaped the keen edge of unscrupulous criticism. President Grant is no exception. But it would be difficult, in scanning the pages of history, from the days of Washington down to the present time, to name many of those who rose high in public life, whose official acts have been more free from mistakes than those of U. S. Grant, first as the General of the armies, and now as Chief Magistrate of the nation. He is not a man of words, but of deeds. His promises are few, but his acts are always in the right direction, and rarely fail of success.

It will be remembered that soon after General McClellan was called to the command of the army, he reviewed the troops in front of Washington, and in the presence of Abraham Lincoln, and the army, he stood in his carriage and proclaimed, without any qualification, that hereafter "There shall be no more defeats; we shall have no more retreats." But unfortunately for the army and the nation, his experience was a succession of "defeats," followed by "retreats," down to the close of his command.

When General Grant was placed in command, he made no promises beyond the declaration that, "I shall fight it out on this line, if it takes all summer." Steadily he persevered through the summer, and the winter, and down into the months of spring, when he whipped the foe, and closed the war. There was no defeat, no retreating, until Lee was compelled to lay down his arms.

The brief correspondence which passed between these two great Generals, Grant and Lee, on that memorable occasion, is creditable alike to both. The language of the conquerer to the vanquished General, is plain and candid; but at the same time free from the semblance of any thing that could offend or wound the feelings of Lee or his army. Could words be more fitly chosen to assure a conquered General of the folly and crime of farther resistence than the following:

April 7th, 1865.

General R. E. Lee, Commanding C. S. A.

"GENERAL:—The result of last week must convince you of the hopelessness of further resistence on the part of the army of Northern Virginia in this struggle. I feel it is so, and regard it as my duty to shift from myself the responsibility of any further effusion of blood, by asking of you the surrender of that portion of the Confederate Army known as the Army of Northern Virginia.

Very respectfully,
Your obt. servant,
U. S. Grant, Liut. General,
Commanding Armies United States.

General Lee replied, April 7th, asking for terms. General Grant, April 8, submitted as the terms: "That the men surrendered, shall be disqualified from taking up arms against the United States, until properly exchanged."

On the same day General Lee's reply was received, in which he said: "I do not think the emergency has arrived to call for the surrender of this army," and proposed a meeting at 10 a. m. April 9th, "to negotiate terms of peace." To which General Grant replied as follows:

April 9th, 1865.

General R. E. Lee, Commanding C. S. A.

GENERAL:—As I have no authority to treat on the subject of peace, the meeting proposed for 10 a. m. to-day could lead to no good. I will state, however, General, that I am equally anxious for peace with yourself, and the whole North entertains the same feeling. The terms upon which peace can be had are well understood: By the South laying down their arms they will hasten that desirable result, save thousands of human lives, and hundreds of millions of property not yet destroyed.

Sincerily hoping that all our difficulties may be settled without the loss of another life, I subscribe myself.

Very respectfully.
Your obt. servant,
U. S. Grant, Liut. General.

The firm but subdued spirit manifested, and the words chosen to convey the sentiment of the victorious General, will entitle that letter to a place, in all time to come, among the most noble examples of military diplomacy in the recorded history of warfare.

General Lee submitted without further delay.

According to an eye witness, the two Generals met at the house of Wilmer McLane, near Appomattox Court House, at 2 o'clock, p. m. April 9, 1865. They greeted each other with a dignified courtesy, and proceeded at once to the business before them. Lee immediately attended to the conditions of surrender; characterized them as exceedingly lenient, and said he would leave the details to General Grant's own discretion. General Grant stated the terms of the parole: "That the arms should be stacked, the artillery parked, and the supplies and munitions turned over to him, the officers retaining their side arms, horses, and personal effects." General Lee promptly assented to the conditions, and the agreement of surrender was engrossed and signed by General Lee, at 3,30 o'clock.

Thus the last scene in the great war was enacted, and the curtain fell. Not only the "thousands of human lives, and hundreds of millions of property" were saved to the nation; but the life and unity of the nation itself were preserved, through the military genius and indomitable perseverence of "the right man in the right place."

General McClellan had some good qualities, but he failed signally as a soldier; and the command of the army passed successively from McClellan to Burnside, then to Hooker, and from him to Meade, and finally to Grant, who, after an unbroken series of victories brought the war to a successful close.

In all these honors the General was never known to manifest ostentation, or claim for himself even due credit for the greatest military triumph of the nineteenth century. He invariably attributed his success to the bravery and intrepidity of his soldiers, for whom he always evinced the warmest attachment and expressed the most unlimited admiration.

With peace restored, the name of Grant was freely used in connection with the Presidency, and in due time he was nominated for that important position. On being officially informed of this, he addressed a letter of acceptance to General Joseph R. Hawley, president of the National Union Republican Committee, in which he used these words: "If elected to the office of President of the United States it will be my endeavor to administer all the laws in good faith, with economy, and with the view of giving peace, quiet, and protection everywhere."

There is neither boasting nor circumlocution here, but the candid assurance of a fervent purpose to serve his country faithfully, as its Chief Magistrate, as he had done in the past as a soldier. He was elected. Nearly three years of his term of office have passed into history. And what is his record? Is it not an uninterrupted series of years of successful administration of public affairs, resulting, under God's blessing, in unprecedented prosperity to the nation? The laws have all been administered in good faith; economy in expenditures is the ruling policy, and it has been successfully carried out, as the official records most conclusively prove. Peace, quiet, and protection have prevailed, excepting among a few vicious spirits in limited sections of the South, and even these have been made glad to acknowledge the supremacy of the law, and sue for mercy.

It is a significant fact, that, in his Generalship, so also in the discharge of his responsible duties as Chief Magistrate, U. S. Grant cannot justly be charged with an official blunder. Those who have attempted to attribute to him, errors in his Administration, have been forced to abandon their mode of attack. Even in the charges made against him in the San Domingo affair, the President acquitted himself triumphantly, and obtained a victory over his accusers as complete as that won from the rebel General near Appomattox Court House.

It is altogether unnecessary here to go into details on the questions of retrenchment and revenue reform. The facts are before the public, in the official reports annually issued by the Heads of Departments. It is enough to state, generally, that in 1869 the expenditures of the War Department for the Army of the United States, were $80,000,000; in 1870, they were $57,000,000; in 1871, only $40,000,000. Here is a saving in one year of $23,000,000, and in another, of $17,000,000. The estimate for the current year is $32,000,000, which promises a further saving of $8,000,000. The decrease in the expenditures of some of the other Departments is even greater, while in all of them it is very large, amounting in the aggregate, including the reduction of interest on the public debt, to over $100,000,000, annually. The public debt itself has been reduced $100,000,000 a year, each year since General Grant was elected President. The pensions to soldiers and sailors, and to their families, can, of course, be reduced in the aggregate only by the lapse of time. The Indian Bureau has been remoddled, and the Indian policy may now be considered a success. The cost of collecting the revenue has been largely reduced, and the Internal Revenue taxes have been cut down from $310,000,000 in 1866, $144,000,000 in 1871. A further reduction to about $100,000,000 is contemplated, and in the process of actual accomplishment. Can "Revenue Reformers" ask for more than this? Then in the tariff, a reduction of about $23,000,000 of duties was made by the lasst Congress, by placing a number of imported articles on the free list, and reducing the tariff on others. Farther reductions are proposed, and will certainly be made by the present Congress.

In conclusion, it can be said, with strict regard to the facts, and without fear of contradiction, that at no previous period, in the history of our country, have the public affairs been in a more satisfactory condition than at the commencement of this new year, 1872. The Government itself is stronger than ever before. We are at peace with all the world. The public credit has been restored, and placed on a firm and permanent basis. Our industries, under the fostering influence of a judicious protective tariff, are prospering, as they never have before; and peace, remunerative employment, and protection to life and property prevail throughout the Union.

These are among the best blessings conceded to man; and under God, it must be admitted, that they are largely the result of judicious legislation, and an intelligent and faithful administration of the laws.

"Let us have Peace," said General Grant, after the close of the war. That peace, with its twin blessing, Prosperity, we have, ever since, been permitted to enjoy. And basing our conclusions upon his acts in the past, it is safe to say, that the renomination and election of U. S. Grant to the Presidency, will be the surest guarantee for a continuation of our present great National prosperity.

WE had supposed that the first statements of the loss of life in the great Chicago fire were much exaggerated, but the papers of that city, with full time to make up a careful and accurate estimate, still express the opinion that the death list will foot up considerable over 500. Over 100 bodies have been recovered, nearly all of which have been identified, and the work of clearing away the ruins is still far from completion. In the swift rush of the flames hundreds of people were unquestionably consumed so completely as not to leave even a vestige of bone, or even ashes, to tell their fate.—Spe. Republican.

Orders to prepare iron-clads for sea, six of those formidable vessels now lying at Brooklyn, League Island and Washington, have been issued. They will be prepared with all possible dispatch, and these movements are simply a part of the energetic preparation of the Navy Department, not for war, but for a reinforcement of our fleet to such a degree that the protection of American vessels and American interests will be sure and certain, and that in case of conflict, which is not sought, but which may be precipitated at any moment, this Government may not practically be defenseless.

GERRIT SMITH is in his 75th year, and his memory is so perfect that he can repeat most of the Psalms and many other parts of the Bible. His domestic, as well as public life, has been of a felicitous nature, and the bride whom he wedded a half century ago is the companion of his latter days. His form is still erect, but his once raven locks are silvered, and those who see him now can form but an imperfect idea of the great pillar of the anti-slavery cause as he appeared on the platform thirty years ago.

IT was noticed by a somewhat close observer at the Executive Mansion yesterday, says a Washington paper of the 10th, that of all the throng of ladies who called to pay their respects to Mrs. Grant, about the only one not dressed in silk, satin or velvet, or all three combined, was Mrs. Thornton, wife of Sir Edward Thornton, the British Minister, who wore a dress of dark, soft warm-looking material, suitable for winter wear.

A joke reported by William Warren, the Boston comedian, is that on hearing that his house in Chicago was burned, he said, "My house is gone, and I am now bewailing my unhappy lot!"

THE EXPENDITURES OF THE STATE.

WHAT IT COSTS TO MAINTAIN OUR COMMONWEALTH.

The report of the Auditor General, for 1871, shows the total expenditures of the Commonwealth for the year to be $7,024,079,85; with a balance in the Treasury of $1,476,808 59. Of the above amount, $2,220,224 59 were paid to redeem loans, etc., and $1,785,035 91 for interest on loans.

The expenses of the government were $1,026,024 16, of which the Senate cost $139,916, and the House $266:284. Public printing, $179,783; Executive Department, $31,620; Auditor General's Department, $26,582; Treasury office, $13,659; Surveyor General's Department, $27,781; and the Judiciary $317,000.

The military expenses were $42,000. For pensions and gratuities, $85,282 were paid, of which Philadelphia received $21,492, and Allegheny $948.

The charitable institutions cost $396,-103, of which the Pennsylvania Institution for Deaf and Dumb received $39,-000; the Institute for the Blind, $23,250; Training School for Idiotic Children, $14,849; State Lunatic Hospital, Philadelphia, $40,000; State Hospital at Danville, $200,000; Marine Hospital at Erie, $25,000; Western Pennsylvania Hospital, Dixmont, $19,250. The soldiers' orphans cost $522,607.

The common schools cost $546,807, of which amount Allegheny county is charged with $27,000, and Philadelphia $85.000. The County Superintendents drew $69,000.

Under the head of damages and old claims, is an item of $17,000 paid for damages to Jones Hotel property, Philadelphia, by reason of its occupation by troops during the rebellion, and $1,020 to A. K. McClure, for similar damage to his property.

The Inspectors of Coal Mines, nine in number, were paid $22,082.

There were expended on the public buildings and grounds during the year $27,382.

The House of Refuge cost $78,125, the institution located here receiving $25,000, and that at Philadelphia $53,-125.

The Penitentiaries received $58,811—Eastern $30,431; Western, $28,380.

There was paid to Special Commissioners to revise the civil code, etc., $14,-273; and Commissioners to adjust claims in border counties, $4,408.

The Board of Public Charities cost $4,993; the Luzerne county riot, $37,926; Antietam Cemetery, $7,700; relief of citizens of Mifflintown, $20,000; and under the head of "miscellaneous" $48,-670 were expended.

The total revenues for the year were $7,197,945.

THE Fire Department at Florence, Italy, according to the sculptor, Hiram Powers, consists of ten men, three equipped with pipes, four with buckets, and three with small brass fire-extinguishers. Very little occasion is found for the services of these ten firemen, as all the floors and ceilings of the houses in Florence are protected with brick tiles. In Mr. Powers's house there are no joists, and a room twenty feet square has an arched ceiling of tiles, which was laid by four men in four days. These floors covered with tiles, it is stated, are no colder than wood, and can be as easily carpeted. Mr. Powers recommends the introduction of the Italian brick-masons into the United States to instruct our builders in this description of work.

THE Richmond Dispatch is not very enthusiastic over the productions of Va, which have diminished every year since the war. It asserts that the productions of tobacco in the James River Valley has diminished one half. As to wheat, the dimunition is still greater, the production for five years since the war being as one to four what it was for the five preceding the war. The last was almost an entire failure, and the receipts fell off one half, so that the Richmond millers had to purchase wheat in the North. Cattle, sheep, horses, hogs and poultry have also diminished in a greater ratio than the leading stapples.

OUR DISABLED SOLDIERS.—The Government makes most excellent provision for soldiers who from wounds or disease have become incapacitated for labor. There are Homes or National Asylums located at Augusta, Maine; Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Dayton, Ohio, and also near Hampton, Virginia. Seventeen hundred men are in that at Dayton; six hundred and twenty at Milwaukee; two hundred and sixty near Hampton, Virginia, and five hundred and twenty-five at Augusta, Maine. A beautiful theatre is now being prepared in connection with the Asylum at Milwaukee.

THE British mercantile marine consists of thirty-seven thousand vessels, representing six million tons. Of these four thousand were steamers; and, altogether, the English have more ships than all other nations combined. The crews of these merchantmen amount to over three hundred thousand sailors, and could be transferred to the navy in time of war.

The Sharpest Bank Swindle yet Recorded.

The Kansas City News gives the following account of the latest swindle on record:

"A well dressed gentleman, who, for identification we will call Smith, entered the bank, and in a straight forward business like manner, desired the bank, to advance him the sum of $800 on a draft drawn on a banking firm in a neighboring State. The parties being strangers the bank informed him they could not advance the money. "Well," said Smith, "it will make no difference. You can take the draft and send it forward for collection, and I will wait until you get returns." This was agreed to by the bank, and the draft was forwarded for collection. In due course of mail the bank received a handsomely gotten up draft on a banking house in New York with the proper government stamp printed in for the sum of $800, which amount was duly paid over to Smith, who departed.

The draft was sent on to New York, and in a few days the bank received the consoling information that the whole transaction was a complete and successful fraud and swindle.

This is a game which could easily have been played upon the most careful banking house in the country.

ONE of the most horrible cases of glanders in a human being ever heard of, occurred in the neighborhood of Waverton, Mass., a week or two since. A man while attending to a horse got some of the virus from the nose or mouth of a glandered horse into a cut upon one of his thumbs, and a short time thereafter was taken with frightful spasms succeeded by fearful sickness and prostration. Medical assistance was obtained, and although every reasonable attention was given the man (notwithstanding the report that he was deserted by his neighbors,) he died in a most horrible manner, some six or seven days afterwards. His body became a mass of ulcers, and at the time of dissolution, the flesh literally fell in pieces from the bones. This is one of the most dreadful cases on record.

THE SONG MESSENGER for December is on our table. It contains the song of Mrs. O'Leary's Cow, by "P. Green," Editorials on "Adapting Hymns to Tunes," "The Cabinet Organ in Play," reviews of sheet music and books, (the editor's opinion, and not the publishers) Musical News, etc., and a variety of interesting matter by Mr. Geo. F. Root and others. Also a new song, "Ye Have Done it Unto Me," by Mr. Root, a Christmas anthem, and several glees. Specimen copies 10 cts. The SONG MESSENGER is now edited by Mr. W. S. B. Mathews, Editor of the late Musical Independent. Published by Root & Cady Chicago, at $1 a year. In all respects a musical paper for the people.

THE Beaver Radical says, "the attempt to bespatter the reputation of President Grant, by fastening on him the slightest complicity with the lax management of the New York Custom House, has already become a ridiculous failure. And those within our party who have lent their aid and influence to this wretched effort, have found themselves suspected by the Republican party, while the President—the object of their malevolence—is stronger to-day than at any moment since the surrender of Lee."

MONUMENT TO HON. JOHN COVODE.—A monument has been erected in West Fairfield, Westmoreland county, to the memory of the late Hon. John Covode. It is of Italian marble with a Pennsylvania marble base. The die rests on a heavy plinth, and is crowned with a finely-moulded cap. From the cap there rises a square shaft, eight and a half feet in height, the height of the whole being fifteen feet. It is simply inscribed with name, date of birth and of death of old "Honest John."

DAVID A WELLS has made a report to Governor Hoffman on the financial condition of New-York City. The debt is less than $100,000,000, and the city is amply able to meet all its engagements. This amounts to a mortgage of about five cent upon the real value of property in the city, which is prudently estimated at about $2,000,000,000. The annual increase of that value is by some put down as high as $100,000,000, or the whole amount of the existing debt.

THE French minister of War has decided that in future white or dappled-gray horses shall not be employed in the military service, the experience in the late war having proved that the animals of those colors offer an excellent mark for the enemy's artillery. White horses being regarded by the veterinary profession as lymphatic, were condemned during the seige as unsuited for human consumption.

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

BELLEFONTE, PA.

MY FRIEND.

[The following touching poem, was written in the prison dead-house at Camp Chase, by Col. W. S. H. A fellow-prisoner was engaged to a beautiful lady; she proved faithless, and her letter came, breaking the troth. Soon after he died, and this was Col. H.'s reply.—Ed.]

Your letter came, but came too late,
Foa Heaven had claimed its own;
Ah, sudden change! from prison bars
Unto the Great White Throne!
And yet I think he would have stayed—
For one more day of pain,
Could he have read those tardy words
Which you have sent in vain.

Why did you wait, fair lady,
Through so many a weary hour?
Had you other lovers with you
In that silkin, dainty bower?
Did others bow before your charms,
And twine bright garlands there?
And yet I ween in all that throng
His spirit had no peer.

I wish that you were by me now,
As I draw the sheet aside,
To see how pure the look he wore
Awhile before he died
Yet the sorrow that you have gave him
Still had left its weary trace,
And a meek and saintly sadness
Dwells upon his pallid face.

"Her love," he said, "could change for me
The winter's cold to spring;"
Ah, trust of thoughtless maiden's love,
Thou art a bitter thing!
For when these valleys fair, in May,
Once more with bloom shall wave,
The northern violets shall blow
Above his humble grave.

Your dole of scanty words had been
But one more pang to bear;
Though, to the last, he kissed with love
This tress of your soft hair,
I did not put it where he said,
For, when the angels come,
I would not have them find the sign
Of falsehood in the tomb.

I've read the letter, and I know
The wiles that you have wrought
To win that noble heart of his,
And gained it—fearful thought!—
What lavish wealth men sometimes give
For a trifle, light and small!
What manly forms are often held
In Folly's flimsy thrall!

You shall not pity him, for now
He s past your hope and fear;
Although I wish that you could stand
With me beside his bier.
Still, I forgive you; Heaven knows
For mercy you'll have need,
Since God his awful judgment sends
On each unworthy deed.

To-night, the cold winds whistle by,
As I my vigils keep
Within the prison dead house, where
Few mourners are to weep.
A rude plank coffin holds him now,
Yet Death gives always grace;
And I would rather see him thus
Than clasped in your embrace.

To-night your rooms are very gay,
With wit, and wine, and song;
And you are smiling, just as if
You never did a wrong.
Your hand so fair, that none would think
It penned these words of pain;
Your skin, so white—would God, your soul
Were half so free of stain!

I'd rather be this dear, dear friend,
Than you in all your glee;
For you are held in grievous bonds,
While he's forever free.
Whom serve we in this life, we serve
In that which is to come;
He chose his way; you, your's; let God
Pronounce the fitting doom.

[From the Freeman's Journal.]

A Protestant Judge Trying to Settle Catholic Law.

Judge Gamble, of Lycoming county, Pennsylvania, though he may easily prove on his own behalf, that his head is less clear than the average attorneys at law, will find it hard to convince impartial men that something more than obscurity of mental vision was not swaying his judgment, when he committed himself to the lengthy "opinion" that he delivered on the 21st of December, on giving his decision, continuing the injunction against the Bishop of Scranton.

Judge Gamble acknowledges the well-settled law of civil courts in the United States, in saying:

If this act (of the Bishop) were within the jurisdiction and authority of the Bishop, and authorized by the laws of the Catholic Church, then the complaint would be bound to submit, or seek redress in the judicatories of the church, and this court would have neither the power nor the inclination to interfere.

If Judge Gamble, sat as a judge to see justice done between man and man, had read, and noted the paragraphs he has referred to and in part cited—he would have seen that Rev. Mr. Stack had no possible standing, as plaintiff, in his court. It is very possible that the Bishop of Scranton, as defendant, suffered for want of a counsel at the law who was expert in the legislation of the Catholic Church. But Judge Gamble was bound to have possessed himself, fully, of the paragraphs cited by the complainant, before he intermeddled, on behalf of the plaintiff, to the very great wrong not only of the Bishop, but, much more, of the large congregation of the faithful of Annunciation Church.

Judge Gamble cites paragraph "77" of the Decrees—so called—of the Plenary Council of Baltimore, held A. D. 1866. This paragraph, as we have in past times somewhat luminously showed in the Freeman's Journal, decreed nothing! We have very grave and powerful support in saying, as we have said, that we think it unfortunate that it did not decree something; but it did not; and the existing result is the continued inchoate condition of the Catholic church in this country. Judge Gamble says that a translation of the various paragraphs of the Plenary Council, cited on either side "is appended, that they may be seen in their proper relation." That translation has not been published in the newspapers. But it ought to be supposed that Judge Gamble has either read the paragraph in the original Latin, or has had some impartial and trustworthy person translate it for him. As, in his "opinion," he deals somewhat in the "dog-latin" of English law, it is most respectful to him to suppose he has read that paragraph "77," himself in its Latin—which is irreproachable as Latin, whatever may be thought of its legal value.

Now, mark! That paragraph cites, with commendation, an act of a Provincial Council of St. Louis, held in 1855, and approved by the Holy See. But this "Act" of the Provincial Council of St. Louis does not ordain a law. It only suggests. "The Fathers think, (consent) that it will be of much advantage (omnino expedire)" to give priests inculpated by their bishops a trial before a commission of their peers. Will Judge Gamble dare to say, as a member of the bar of Pennsylvania, that a suggestion of this kind makes a "rule of law?"

But there is more than this. The Plenary Council of Baltimore, of 1866, proposed this suggested usage for the Province of St. Louis, not ad amussim, but ad normam. This, is not as a rule of law, to be followed to the letter; but as a pattern, to have in the mind, as showing how the business might be done. But this is not all. The Plenary Council of Baltimore, whose "Acts and Decrees" are the Canon law for this country, except as modified by later Papal Promulgations—which must be cited to be of obligation; but that Plenary Council, we repeat, put into this suggestion of the propriety of adopting that other suggestion of a Provincial Council of St. Louis a phrase that renders it, not a law, but a suggestion of a suggestion, of a yet more remote suggestion! Si Episcopo videatur! "IF THE BISHOP THINKS FIT!"

Put into plain English, the paragraph "77," of the Plenary Council at Baltimore, says: "If any Bishop is so disposed he may take example from a suggestion made in a Provincial Council of St. Louis and give an inculpated priest a trial before a court of priests appointed by the Bishop or his Vicar-General."

This is the beginning and the end of paragraph "77," of the Plenary Council of Baltimore, in A. D. 1866. We are on record as thinking this is not enough; but that is our family affair as Catholics. Judge Gamble is an officious, not an official meddler! He shows his want of official dignity in his gabbling opinion. He fulfills the saying of the wise man: Meddling with a strife that belongs not to him, he "is as one that takes a dog by the ears!" Had he read, and understood paragraph "77," it would have told him that Rev. Mr. Stack had no standing in his court, on the plea made. There is a work doing, and to do for the honor of the Catholic Priesthood—except for such members of it as, like Mr. Stack, dishonor their priest-hood. It was in full way, while the Holy Council of the Vatican was sitting. When that Council re-assembles, then one common law will be made for Priests of Parishes, wherever there are Bishops of Dioceses.—There will be one law for Church in Italy, in Spain, in France, in Germany, and in the United States. We, here, will be put on the same footing with Catholics in all other countries. This has been secured by that free discussion, in our columns, that preceded the assembling of the Vatican General Council. This was much, and it was needed! It has been accomplished, in principle. Let us, all, redouble our prayers, and our almsgiving that the troubles of these times may be quieted, and that the Holy Ecumenical Council of the Vatican may re-assemble, and do, in discipline, the marvels it has already performed in dogmatic definitions. These are our well-founded anticipations.

But what in the world has Judge Gamble to do with these? Nothing whatever. We have shown him, that, by paragraph "77" of our Catholic canon law, as it exists, Bishops have complete control of the secular priesthood committed to each of them. This is the end of his right to meddle with us. Therefore all his loose sayings, besides this, go for nothing. He is foolish enough to say that; "This is not an ecclesiastical question. It involves no matter of faith, discipline, or doctrine." No question of "discipline," does it not! Why talk of what you do not understand, Judge Gamble?

You treat Rev. Mr. Stack as one who has a vested right in his relation to the Annunciation church. At law, how is this permanent right shown? Does he show title, vested in him, to the property of that church? If so, it is a fraud on the face of it. That church belongs to the faithful Catholics, whose offerings have built it. If, following your absurd order, Mr. Stack should, by your authority, dare to say Mass in that church, the Catholics who built it, and really own it, would not go near the church. They know they would commit a graver fault in attending any service held by him, in this church that belongs to them, and not to him—than if they were to go into any Methodist or Presbyterian Conventicle.

It would take a bulky pamphlet to refute, one by one, all, the absurdities of Judge Gamble's wandering opinion. He quotes the case of "Cumming against the State of Missouri," to show that a professional occupation constituted an estate. That was a good plea against a legislative enactment, depriving a citizen of his right to practice his profession, he having the approbation of the authority that gave him this professional right.

If you expect good cattle, look first at the calves; if you wish good men, look carefully after the children

The Coming Presidential Election.

BY WM. LLOYD GARRISON.

[From the New York Independent, Jan. 4, 1872.]

The Democratic party is in a state of utter bewilderment as to its possibilities, with reference to the coming Presidential election, whether in the matter of political success or of mischievous plotting to divide the Republican ranks. Its Southern wing is as anti-national and seditious in spirit as ever, though ready to co-operate with the Northern wing in any device that may possibly effect the overthrow of a hated loyal administration. The main point of union between them is, at all events, to prevent the renomination of President Grant; but, if that cannot be done, then to defeat his election, if possible, by inducing certain disaffected Republicans to bring into the field against him Mr. Chase, Mr. Trumbull, Mr, Sumner, or some other prominent member of the dominant party, by the rending asunder of which there is the only chance of success. This is high praise for the President, that he has so administered the affairs of the country as to make himself more distasteful to the rebel and negro-hating elements, North and South, than any Republican yet artfully suggested as a rival candidate. This fact is immensely in his favor, and it is of far-reaching significance. Whatever may have been his mistakes or shortcomings, the recent state elections prove that his general policy has been in accordance with the views of an overwhelming popular majority; and so acceptable, indeed, as to make it questionable with leading Democrats whether it will not be extreme folly for the Democratic party to attempt any distinct organized resistance at the next Presidential campaign. Of the twenty-two states that have made their annual trial of political strength, fifteen are Republican and seven Democratic; the former casting one hundred and seventy-one electoral voles, the latter fifty-one, including New Hampshire and New Jersey, which in all probability will change sides next year, thus reducing the number to thirty-nine. No such cheering result could have been obtained if our national affairs had not been satisfactorily managed, as a whole; and it plainly means that the people are resolved to extend to President Grant a second term in office. For any Republicans, therefore, te conspire against him cannot bring victory to their standard, and can only end in subserving the factious purposes of that party whose triumph is to be dreaded by every friend of freedom and humanity. "Take any shape but that!"

It is idle to say that there are scores of men in the Republican ranks who are better fitted for the presidency than the present incumbent. No doubt there are hundreds who place this modest estimate upon themselves. But, if any one asserts that there is even a single other man who put in nomination instead of Grant, would poll as large a popular vote and so insure the continued ascendency of Republican rule, let him marshal and present his facts, if he can, to sustain his declaration. Per-adventure, in this or that locality, some one might obtain even a larger support; but, surveying the whole country, and reckoning up the sum total of public sentiment, what other man, however gifted or meritorious, can reasonably hope to receive so large a portion of the suffrages of the American people as President Grant?

The newspaps of the country are the most reliable exponents of public sentiment. Of course, all those of a Democratic stripe are bitterly opposed to Grant's re election. Of the great multitude of Republican journals, can half a dozen be named that are openly arrayed against him, or in favor of trying another candidate? It is true the New York Tribune is unreconciled to his being again run, and that paper has a very extensive circulation; but, seeing that its editor is more than willing to be the President's successor, its opinions on this subject are liable to the suspicion of a personal bias.

I write as a disinterested looker-on—not as a partisan of the Administration; and far be it from me to say that it committed no errors, nor laid itself open to rebuke in regard to some of its appointments, and to grave criticism respecting some of its measures. Indeed, I have more than once taken occasion to testify strongly against the extraordinary course President Grant has pursued touching the annexation of St. Domingo, and, as I think, the unwarrantrble use he has made of the navy to consummate his scheme. Doubtless he deems himself fully justified in what he has done; doubtless he considers the acquisition to be desired on national grounds. But, certainly, the general feeling is that nothing could be more ill-judged or more uncalled for; and so clearly is this perceived by the President himself that, in exact accordance with the avowal made in his Inaugural Message, he shows his readiness to comply with the will of the people, not to dictate to it in any case. Accordingly, in his recent Annual Mes sage to Congress there is not a line or syllable in reference to his favorite project.

On the whole, as pertaining to the best interests of the country, and especially to the reservation of peace at home and abroad, I think it may be fairly claimed that no administration has excelled his own since the days of Washington. Toward our hunted and perishing Indian tribes how humane and praiseworthy is the policy he is endeavoring to enforce! It will ever redound to his credit, though it has made him many enemies, particularly among those who are eager to exterminate the entire race, for malignant and selfish ends. But it has also made him many friends, whose approval any man may covet.

In a peaceful and equitable adjustment of the grave difficulties existing between England and the United States, by the approval of a Commission of International Arbitration, what civilian in the Presidential office could have shown more interest or acted with more alacrity? As charity covereth a multitude of sins, so this honerable method of avoidint a bloody, devastating, and fruitless war, and setting an example to be imitated by all the nations of the earth, will constitute the crowning glory of his administration—as the Emancipation Act did that of Abraham Lincoln—covering many defects and blunders. It is an event to call forth anew the song of the angels as sung at the advent of the Prince of Peace. And how easily it might have been baffled on his part!—as assuredly it would have been, had an ambitious military spirit inflamed him to measure weapons with a powerful foe. Aside from the question of San Domingo, no one in the high position he occupies has ever shown less desire for military display, less indifference to military glory, or a more earnest desire to avoid, as far as practicable, all occasions for bloody quarrel, than President Grant. His wishes and aims have been eminently peaceful throughout; and where force has been resorted to it has been for protection and defense, as in the case of the red men of the West and the freedmen of the South.

It may suit the taste of the degenerate grandson of the revered John Quincy Adams to proclaim that he regards the present Administration "as a national calamity, because it is mean in character, sordid in tone, and ignorant, corrupt and arbitrary; because it is doing more to permanently disunite the states than the Government of Jefferson ever did; and because its chief conceives that there is no means for a free government but military force." It may gratify his personal self-importance oracularly to predict that "four years more of such education, family patronage, and martial law will so blind the keen sensibilities of popular liberty that our ignoble incubus might well remain a fixture." It may please him, to pander to the worst passions of an ignorant rabble, to exclaim: "Nothing, then, remains but a civil war or submission to the usurper; and it is difficult to decide which alternative will inflict the more irreparable injury upon the habit of free government." But these are low specimens of arrant demagoguism, and can disgrace only him who indulges in such utterances. The popular verdict has recently been registered at the polls in regard to all such imputations, and it is one of honorable acquittal, abiding consequencos, and high commendation.

Whatever private griefs or public regrets Mr. Trumbull, or Mr. Sumner, or any other Republican senator may have respecti g certain features of the Presidential policy—and they are to be respected for any honest and manly criticism they may make respecting it—it is not conceivaible that either of them will allow himself to be made a cat s-paw in furtherence of the machinations of the wily leaders of a party rendered desperate by the political signs of the times. To learn from the enemy is true wisdom: what they counsel it is safe to reject; what they desire to possess must not be conceded.

The latest device is to insist only upon one term in the Presidential office, in order to put a stop to political corruption and official bribery! This has a virtuous aspect; but it means nothing more than turning out Grant, leaving his successful rival and the party electing him to find plenty of reasons hereafter why a second term is eminently desirable. A disinterested proposition to amend the Constitution of the United States, so as to allow no one to occupy the Presidential chair more than four years, will deserve grave consideration; but it is to be questioned whether the American people will ever so tie their hands and stultify their judgments as to make it unconstitional for them to choose the one they deem the best to fill the highest office in their gift. Is it not a reflection alike upon their intelligence and patriotism to say that they may not be trusted with the right to elect as often as they will whomsoever they will to act as their Chief Magistrate? If he abuses his trust, or proves himself unqualified for the station, the remedy is in their hands. This freedom they have enjoyed and exercised—satisfactorily to themselves, at least—from the formation of the Federal Government till now; and it is hardly to be presumed that they will consent to any abridgment of it. Unquestionably they will easily detect the present "one-term" outcry as a mere dodge to meet factious exigency.

Further proceedings in the Kuklux trials at Columbia, S. C., are stopping for the present. During their progress forty-eight of the Klan who confessed were sentenced to imprisonment for from one month to two years.

The Pittsburgh Commercial!

A PAPER FOR THE PEOPLE!

The "Presidential year" is always a reading year with the American people. It imposes extraordinary duties on journals from which the people may usually expect not only the news of the day, but intelligent discussion of public questions and enunciation of opinions.—While this is true in a general sense, the year before us is likely, in a political sense, to be one of unsual interest;—the Democratic party is breaking up, and there are indications of alliances and purposes altogether novel in our politics. The elections of the past year have resulted in almost an unbroken series of Republican victories. General Grant's administration his received the unequivocal indorsement of the American people; and there is every indication now that, as the Republican candidate, he will be re-elected President. As an INDEPENDENT REPUBLICAN PAPER the COMMERCIAL will in the future, as in the past, render an undeviating support to Republican Principles, holding that the good of the Republic requires that the Government should remain in the hands of the party that saved it in the great life-or-death struggle. In the future as in the past it will speak its own views regarding men and measures, holding that through free discussion only can safe conclusions be reached and the independence of the press preserved. In this regard we can say simply that the COMMERCIAL will be true to itself and its established character.

As a Newspaper, nothing will be spared to maintain the position which the COMMERCIAL has always held among the leading journals of the day, for news enterprise as well for independent opinions. This year, at home and abroad, will be full of interest. European politics are agitated, and the American reader will likely find much in them to attract his attention. At home all is life and push. Railroads are being constructed everywhere; new projects are almost daily proclaimed; population is increasing; enterprise intelligently directed was never so well rewarded, and the prospect for the wonderful activities of our country is, to say the least, extremely encouraging. With all these things the COMMERCIAL is intimately identified, and as a Business Paper, at the center of the greatest manufacturing district on the continent, has constantly in view whatever of interest readers may reasonably expect to see in its columns,—especially carefully prepared marked reports manufacturing intelligence and general news, collected at home and from abroad.

To our patrons we have only words of cheer. With some of our readers we have held pleasant relations for yerrs. It will be our aim to deserve the continuance of these relations for many years to come. We feel proud in the fact that the COMMERCIAL wields an influence second to no journal in the State. Its readers as a general thing are the influential, intelligent classes. In a circle of hundreds of miles, embracing nearly the whole of Pennsylvania, much of Ohio, West Virginia and States beyond, it is the favorite in the counting-house, the office, the store and the family, especially of business and cultivated classes. To hold this place will be our constant effort.

Good Walks for Winter.

There are too many farmers in all sections who are in the habit of neglecting matters and things about the dwellings and out-buildings which may be called small comforts. In many cases they are overlooked and are not considered of sufficient importance to deserve attention, at least any special attention. Among these there is nothing that add more, not merely to the comfort and convenience, but to the health of the family than good walks about the house and premises. We have known these in many instances to be utterly neglected. They are regarded as good enough when the weather is dry, and when the weather is wet they cannot be made better. And thus year after year the members of the family are left to wade through mud to the cow stables, hog-pens, wood or coal shed, to the pump or spring-house, to the place of drying the wash, and so on. Now, the little labor it would cost to make hard dry paths to all these points is not worth mentioning. About every place there are stones, old mortar, bricks &c., which could be laid down in an excavation of six inches and covered with coal-ashes. This would last for a dozen years, and would always be dry in five, minutes after a rain. Or in lieu of this, lay down board walks, which, if taken up in the spring after the weather is settled and carefully piled up, will last from eight to ten years.

Try it. It will save in shoe-leather and doctors' bills four times as much as the cost, leaving out of the question the great convenience and comfort enjoyed.—Germantown Telegraph.

BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN

R. B. BARGER.....PROPRIETOR

W. W. BROWN,.....EDITOR

Terms: $2.00 Per Annum in Advance.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

Wednesday Morning, January 24, 1872.

FOR GOVERNOR,

GEN. JOHN F. HARTRANFT,

Subject to the decision of the Republican State Convention.

☞A complete file of the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN may always be found at the offices of GEO. P. ROWELL & CO., Advertising Agents, 40 and 41 Park Row, New York, who are authorized to represent us in that city.

NATIONAL REPUBBRICAN CONVENTION.

TO BE HELD WEDNESDAY, JUNE FIFTH, AT PHILADELPHIA.

The Republican National Executive Committee, appointed by the Chicago Convention of 1868, metin Washington City on the 11th inst., to fix the place for holding the next National Convention. After a general exchange of opinion, the first Wednesday in June was fixed as the time and Philadelphia selected as the place, for holding the Convention. The Committee decided that each State shall have delegates to the Convention to double the number of Senators and Representatives, and two for each organized territory, including the Territory of the District of Columbia, which shall have a right to vote.

The following is the call adopted by the Committee:

In calling this Convention the Committee remind the country that the promisses of the Union Republican Convention of 1868 have been fulfilled.—The States lately in rebellion have been restored to their former relations with the Government, the laws of the country have been faithfully executed; the public faith has been preserved, and the national credit firmly established; governmental economy has been illustrated by the reduction of the public debt and of taxation, and the funding of the national debt at a lower rate of interest, now successfully inaugurated; the rights of naturalized citizens have been protected by treaties and immigration encouraged by liberal provisions; the defenders of the Union have been greatefully remembered; the rights and interests of labor have been recognized: laws have been enacted and are being enforced for the protection of persons and property in all sections; equal suffrage has been engrafted on the National Constitution; the privilege and immunities of American citizenship have become part of the law, a liberal policy has been adopted toward all who have engaged in rebellion; complications in foreign relations have been adjusted in the interest of peace throughout the world, while national honor has been maintained; corruption has been exposed and offenders punished, responsibility enforced and safeguards established. Now, as hereafter, the Republican party stands pledged to correct all abuses and carry out all reforms necessary to maintain the purity and efficiency of the public service. To continue firmly to establish its fundamental privileges, we invite the co-operation of all citizens of the United States.

The editor of the New York Commercial Advertiser delivers himself of the following statement: The lives of but few men are above reproach. The man who walks upright through life and never stumbles, and escapes the envy and the calumny of the world, is of no account, and is not likely to leave anything behind him for history or his children or friends to admire. He died "a harmless, inoffensive man" is an empty epitaph. "Write us down an ass," but put no such inscription as this on our tomb stone.

IN Illinois there is a child, now three months old, weighing but two pounds. Its length is only seven inches, and its face about the size of a watch crystal. Its tiny arms are so slender that a small finger ring can be slipped on either of them to the shoulder. In the neighborhood of Pittsburgh, viz: at Turtle Creek, there is a baby over two months old, which does no weigh quite two pounds, and which, though perfect organization, is as puny as the Illinois infant.—Pittsburg Commercial

THE banking firms of Rothschilds and Jay Cooke & Co. have perfected the purchase from Secretary Boutwell, through Gov. Cooke, of $600,000,000 worth of the new loan. They take the remaining $300,000,000 of new 5 per cents, and the $300,000,000 of 4½ per cents. This leaves only the $700,000,000 of 4 per cents yet in the market and this the same bankers agree to take if the United States will pay the interest thereon at London. To collect this interest otherwise, it is contended, would result in deriving very little benefit from it.

THE debt of Pennsylvania, according to the message of Gov. Geary, is about $29,000,000. Deducting the amount of of the sinking fund and the balance in the treasury, the amount of debt unprovided for is about $18,000,000. During the past five years the debt has been reduced by payments of $1,744,878 annually.

Miss Charlotte Cushman is building a cottage at Newport which is to cost $20,000, and all the rooms are to be octagonal in shape.

THE PLOT.

It appears, says the Utica Weekly Herald, that the one-term advocates have an ulterior design beyond depriving the President of his constitutional right to hold office. That is not what they are aiming at. They are only using this pretext for the purpose of inducing the people, if possible, to cut the government loose from its present safe moorings. When once afloat—when the first rash step has been taken—it is hoped that the ship of State may be towed into whatever harbor the treacherous pilot may be induced to choose, and thus made the easy prey of the wreckers and pirates.

The ultimate aim of some of the one-term advocates, at least, is to abolish the office of President, and substitute for it a directory, like that of the first French republic, or of Switzerland. This form of executive administration, we are told, has worked well in the latter country, for years—it does not appear that one like our own would not have worked as well, or better—and the working classes are counted on to force its adoption in our own country. Our President is held up as a King, who, in some way, effects legislation and exucute the laws in a manner inimical to the laboring classes, who are invited to take the form of a tornado, an avalanche a tidal-wave, or some other terrible form, and overwhelm everybody and everything in their communal sweep. To this complexion, we are assured, we must come at last—which plainly means, of course, that this is the end aimed at—a communist revolution.

We give this programme on the authority of the Spirit of the Times, not because we attach any serious importance to it, but because it indicates the aspirations of the one-term advocates and the tendency of the illogical and illegal movement which they desire to inaugurate. It sows the rash, radical hotheadedness of the malcontents, and their utter untrustworthiness as leaders, and affords a fair warning to all who may be disposed to give them a hearing. They are dangerous men, whose ambition leads them to advocate dangerous measures and to stir up bad blood, in the hope of gaining notoriety, if not of obtaining position and power to which they are conscious they can never attain in a legitimate way.

A few may be led astray by the sophisms of the revolutionists—this is their correct designation; bnt we have no fears that the masses will be in the least affected by them. The proposed change is not one that commends itself to plain, common-sense people—and our people are eminently common-sense and practical. They will not be able to see the advantage of half-a-dozen or a dozen heads over one. Our experience with bodies of individuals neither member of which feels a direct responsibility, and the tendency of such bodies to corruption as well as inefficiency, are not favorable. The recent disclosures in New York city, which has been so long ruled by a combination, does not make the people sigh for a direcotry, nor any corresponding form of government. They demand an individual head and direct responsibility, similar to that of the President and his Cabinet—and this is the only sensible and effective form.—Twelve Presidents would be twelve times less responsibility and twelve times more inefficient than one. Such a division of responsibility destroys all efficiency, and sinks as naturally into bargain and corruption as crows gather around carrion. It would furnish more first class offices and fat places for the ambitious and unscrupulous, and place the people at the mercy of just such combinations as have so nearly ruined the character and credit of New York city, and sacrificed the property and liberty of its inhabitants.

It is hoped to make a cat's-paw of the workingmen. A strenuous effort is being made to poison their minds with communist ideas, and make them feel that the same antagonisms exist here that exist in Europe between labor and capital, and between the people and the government. Few will be led estray, and these will be found only among the most vagrant and worthless classes of our cities. The extent to which the communal exotic is taking root may be inferred from the fact that, after all the noise and bluster about parading on Sunday, only about one thousand were found in the New York procession.—Outside of the cities, and outside of the idle and improvident classes, few converts will be made. But, even though the workingmen of our cities could be very generally brought into such a movement, they would not constitute a majority. We have a large, cool and clear headed agricultural population, comprising one-half of the voters of the nation, who are not disposed to run after vagaries and phantoms. They are inclined to let well-enough alone until they see something self-evidently better. They can never be wheedled into the uses of the demagogues. They constitute the bulwark of our free institutions, and will not be ruled by the few restless characters in our large cities. These are much fewer in this country than they are in France, and much less enjoy the sympathy of the rural population; yet, in France, Paris has lost its influence and ceased to be able to dictate. What is growing unpopular where it has been tried is not likely to become popular here.

Unlike European countries, in our own, the great mass of the rural population own the soil they live on, and all have a direct voice in the government. They are all interested in the stability of our institutions, and find their individual interests best promoted by the peace and prosperity of the country, and not in changes, experiments and revolutions. Hence the one-term men and their co-adjutators are working in a hopeless cause. They are not only trying to stop the wheels of progress, but to cause them to roll backward and bring an era of anarchy and uncertainty favorable only to a small and vicious portion of mankind. The people will stick to their free institutions, as they are, with all their constutional and moral guarantees.

THE PITTSBURG DISPATCH.

Parties wishing a first-class daily paper should by all means subscribe for the Pittsburg DAILY DISPATCH one of the largest, liveliest and cheapest papers in the United States. The DISPATCH has been established over a quarter of a century; is independent in politics, advocating always those measures which promise the greatest possible good to the largest possible number; gives daily thirty-six columns of matter, embracing the latest news by telegraph, the most reliable market reports the latest cable telegrams, the freshest Legislative news, the latest Congressional reports, the fullest local reports, with all the news by mail, including the most interesting personal and political items, full telegraphic market reports from all points of importance, East and West, and much other matter of an entertaining and instructive character. The DISPATCH is furnished by mail at $8,00 a year, or may be had from our agents in any town or village within one hundred and fifty miles of Pittsburg at fifteen cents a week.

To those wishing a good and reliable city weekly we would recommend the WEEKLY DISPATCH, one of the handsomest, cheapest and most reliable weeklies published. The WEEKLY DISPATCH gives thirty-six columns of matter, printed in clear large type, and is one of the handsomest, as it has long been one of the cheapest, if not the cheapest weeklies in the country. It contains all the latest news of the day—political, commercial and general—and as an entertaining and acceptable family newspaper is not excelled by any journal in the State. The WEEKLY DISPATCH is furnished to single subscribers at $1 50 a year, or in clubs of ten to one address at $1 00 each, with a free paper to the party getting up the club. Subscribers may remit by mail either in money or by postoffice order, which is the safer mode. Postmasters receiving subscriptions for the DISPATCH, either Daily or Weekly, are authorized to retain twenty per cent, on published rates for single subscribers, or ten per cent, on our club rates, Address,

Colic in Horses.

A veterinarian writes: "In some cases of simple spasmodic colic after a drink of cold water, exposure, and the like, a stimulating and antispasmodic drink will relieve, and nothing further will be necessary. A good formula is one or two ounces of spirits of nitrous etber, twenty drops tincture of aconite, and ten ounces tepid water. In colic from indigestion, constipation, and the like, though this may temporarily relieve, it cannot be relied on to do permanently. It is then preferable to give a laxative (four to six drams Barbadoes alose) to clear away the irritating contents of the bowels, and thus remove the cause. In tympanitic colic (wind colic) an ounce of aromatic spirits of ammonia may be given in ten ounces of water. In all cases alike copious injections of warm water may be thrown into the rectum at frequent intervals.

A prominent statistician has published a table showing the number of children born to each thousand women of the United States during the present century, which reveals the startling fact that what is held up as the peculiar shame of Massachusetts, is equally true of all her sister States. It is shown that only one-half as many children are now born to each thousand women as in 1800. and that there has been a regular decrease from one decade of years to another.

THE WEEK,

A RESUME OF CURRENT OPINION, HOME AND FOREIGN.

THE WEEK fills a place unoccupied hitherto in American journalism, though its importance has long ago been demonstrated in England. From week to week it presents the cream of home and foreign journalism, and gathers from the leading papers of America and England, and of all sections and parties, the most important utterances on current questions of Politics, Society, Religion, Literature, Science, Art, Music, the Drama, and all other topics likely to interest the reader. In addition to the longer articles, which themselves cover every variety of subject, there is Literary Gossip, Science and Art Gossip, Musical and Dramatic Gossip, and General Notes and News, giving the freshest and most copious intelligence in all these departments. In no other paper can be found so large and so various an amount of instructive and entertaning reading matter.

The first No. of The Week was published on December 2d of last year, and in the short space of two months has achieved a most decided and flattering success. No paper has ever received more cordial words from the press and the critics, and it is the general testimony that The Week has met an important and well-defined want in the journalism of America.

Read what the Press says.

THE WEEK is the title of a new paper which bids fair to fill a void in New York journalism. It is filled with a selection of the more noticeable articles of the various daily papers—not editorial merely, but extracts also from news and correspondence. Thus at a glance the busy man who has had no leisure to see more than one, if any, daily paper during the week, gets the cream of the entire newspaper literature—not the metropolitan only, but of other cities, and to some extent of foreign capitals also.—Brooklyn Eagle.

THE WEEK is a new paper which ought to take a permanent place in American journalism. Possessed of it the reader will find that he can dispense with most other journals and still keep abreast of the most enlightened current opinion on Politics, Society, Religion, Art, Music, and the Drama, and the like.—Springfield Republican.

THE WEEK is the title of a new paper whose idea we like. The selections are well made, and we hope THE WEEK will find abundant patronage.—Independent.

Its success ought not to be a matter of doubt.—Chicago Journal.

THE WEEK is a 16 page paper of large size, with three broad columns to the page, and is neatly and tastefully printed.

TERMS—$3 a year; single copy 8 cents. Trial subscription, 4 consecutive numbers for 25 cents.

Address "THE WEEK,"
P. O. Box 1583, New York.

THE AMERICAN WASHER?

PRICE $5.50

THE AMERICAN WASHER SAVES MONEY, TIME, AND DRUDGERY.

The Fatigue of Washing Day no Longer Dreaded, but Economy, Efficiency, and Clean Clothing. Sure.

In calling public attention to this little machine, a few of the invaluable qualities, (not possessed by any other washing machine yet invented,) are here enumerated.

It is the smallest, most compact, most portable, most simple in construction, most easily operated. A child ten years old, with a few hours' practice, can thoroughly comprehend and effectually use it. There is no adjusting, no screws to annoy, no delay in adapting! It is always ready for use! It is a perfect little wonder! It is a miniature giant, doing more work and of a better quality, than the most elaborate and costly. One half of the labor is fully saved by its use, and the clothes will last one-half longer than by the old plan of the rub board. It will wash the largest blanket. Three shirts at a time, washing thoroughly! In a word, the ablution of any fabric, from a Quilt to a Lace Curtain or Cambric Handkerchief, are equally within the capacity of the LITTLE GEM! It can be fastened to any tub and taken of at will.

No matter how deep rooted a prejudice may exist against Washing Machines, the moment this little machine is seen to perform its wonders, all doubts of its cleansing efficacy and utility are banished, and the doubter and detractor at once becomes the fast friends of the machine.

We have testimonials without end, setting forth its numerous advantages over all others, and from hundreds who have thrown aside the unwieldy, useless machines, which have signally failed to accomplish the object promised in prominent and loud sounding advertisements.

It is as perfect for washing as a wringer is for wringing. The price another paramount inducement to purchasers, has been placed so low that it is within the reach of every housekeeper and there is no article of domestic economy that will repay the small investment so soon.

All that is asked for this GREAT LABOR SAVER, is a fair trial. We guarantee each machine to do its work perfectly.

COURT PROCLAMATION.

Whereas the Hon. Charles A. Mayer, President of the court of Common Pleas, in the 25th Judicial District, consisting of the counties of Centre, Clinton and Clearfield, and the Honorable W W Love and the Honorable Henry Dopp, Associate Judges in Centre county, having issued their precept, bearing date the 4th day of January, A. D., 1872, to me directed for holding a court of Oyer and Terminer and General Jail Delivery and Quarter Sessions of the Peace in Bellefonte, for the county of Centre, and to commence on the 4th Monday of January next, being the 23rd day of January 1872, and to continue two weeks.

Notice is therefore hereby given to the Coroner' Justice of the Peace, Aldermen and Constables of the said county of Centre, that they be then and there in their proper persons, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, with their records, inquisitions, examinations, and their own remembrances, to do those things which to their office appertains to be done, and those who are bound in recognizances to prosecute against the prisoners that are or shall be in the Jail of Centre county, be then and there to prosecute against them as shall be just.

Given under my hand, at Bellefonte, the 4th day of January in the year of our Lord, 1872, and in the ninety-fourth year of the Independence of the United States.

How to Judge Poultry.

We give a few general rules by which the age of fowls of all descriptions can be judged. In following these rules no reason need be assigned by any grocer, much less housekeeper, for purchasing other than good, wholesome and tender fowls.

If a hen's spur is hard, and the scales on the leg's rough, she is old, whether you see her head or not. but her head will corroborate your observation. If the under bill is so stiff that you cannot bend it down, and the comb thick and rough, leave her, no matter how fat and plump, for some one less particular. A young hen has only the rudiments of spurs; the scales on the legs are smooth, glossy and fresh colored, whatever the color may be; the claws teder and short, the nails sharp, the under bill soft, and the comb thin and smooth.

An old hen turkey has rough scales on the legs, collosities on the soles of the feet, and long, strong claws: a young one the reverse of all these marks. The old turkey cock has a long tuft or beard, a young one but a sprouting one: and when they are off, the smooth scales on the legs decide the point, besides the difference in size of the wattles of neck and in the elastic shoot upon the nose.

An old goose when alive is known by the rough legs, the strength of the wings, particularly at the pinions, the thickness and strength of the bill, and the fineness of the feathers; and when plucked, is known by the legs, the tenderness of the skin under the wings, by the pinions and the bill, and the coarseness of the skin.

Ducks are distinguished by the same means, but there is this difference, that a duckling's bill is much longer in proportion to the breadth of its head than the old duck's.

A young pigeon is discovered by its pale color, smooth scales, tender collapsed feet. and the yellow long down interspersed among its feathers. A pigeon that can fly has always red-colored legs and no down, and is then too old for use.

Winter Care of Sheep.

Sheep are looking up. The tide has turned. But unless sheep are to be taken up as a permanent part of the farm stock and proper care and attention given to them, it would be better for the farmer to let them alone. Sheep properly cared for, are the most profitable and least troublesome farm stock; but if neglected and improperly managed, none so soon become out of condition and become diseased and die. Winter is the most trying time for them. "Coddling" is the most hurtful thing. With good feed a flock of sheep would do better to lie out of doors in the snow the whole winter, than to be kept in a close warm stable. Running at the nose and lung disease will surely follow too close penning up. Unless the weather is stormy, or the ewes with lamb are near their time, they should be turned into a field every day. They should have fresh water (access to a spring is best) at least once every day. It is folly to suppose that sheep will thrive with snow for drink, and yet many flocks are premitted thus to quench their thirst every day through the winter. Clover hay is the best standard feed, with half a pint of oats, rye, or buckwheat daily. Sheep do better with a little change in their feed occasionally. Salt, in which a fourth part of sulphur is mingled, should be placed where they can always have access to it. Cornstalks may do as a coarse feed to pick amongst, but as a standard feed it does not seem palatable enough for them. They will live on it but do not thrive.

Separate the flock into at least two portions. The lambs, and in-lamb ewes which may be weakly. should, at all events, be taken from the strong, hearty ewes, wethers, and bucks, and extra care given them. It is still better to keep the wethers and bucks by themselves, and thus make three divisions. Guard against dogs. which, at this season, are more than ever mischievous. If a dog is kept on the farm, let him be well acquainted with the flock and they with him. Above all thing be patient, attentive and exactly regular in feeding and watering, not over feeding nor stinting the flesh, but having found the right way, persevere therein, and do not swerve one way or the other from it. One can not neglect his sheep one day and make up by extra care the next.

Charcoal as a General Remedy.

Our rule has always been to give nothing, unless we know exactly what to do; and in the meantime attend to every exterior comfort practicable. If the weather is cold, place it in warm quarters, avoid all exposure, and attend to pure air and strict cleanliness. But there is one medicine that can never do harm, and is commonly beneficial; this is pulverized charcoal. As we have just remarked, nearly all sick animals become so from improper eating, in the first place. Nine cases out of ten the digestion is wrong. Charcoal is the most efficient and rapid corrective. It will cure in a majority of cases, if promptly administered. An example of its use—the hired man came in with intelligence that one of the finest cows was very sick and a kind neighbor proposed the usual drugs and poisons. The owner being ill and unable to examine the cow concluded that the trouble came from some over-eating, and ordered a tea-cup of pulverized charcoal given in water. It was mixed, placed in a junk bottle, the head upward, and the water with its charcoal poured downward. In five minutes an improvement was visible, and in a few hours the animal was in the pasture quietly eating grass. Another instance of equal success occured with a young heifer which become badly bloated by eating green apples after a hard wind. The bloat was so severe that the sides were almost as hard as a barrel. The old remedy, saleratus, was tried for the purpose of correcting the acidity. But the attempt to put it down always caused coughing, and it did little good. Half a teacup of fresh powdered charcoal was next given. In six hours all appearance of bloat had gone, and the heifer was well.—Country Gentleman.

What Fowls to Keep.

There is a wide difference of opinion among poultry fanciers and farmers. as to what breed of fowls are most desirable. Of course the decision of the question depends on the purpose for which they are kept, as best layers do not always furnish the best meat. But on this point a committee appointed by the Farmer's Club, of New York, to visit the poultry show, and report what breeds of poultry to keep, made a report to the club, of which the following is the substance:

What breads are at present most prized? A. Different breeders disagree, but it is at present thought that the majority prefer the Houdans, dark and light Brahmas, and Leghorns.

Are pure breeds preferable? A. The pure breeds are better than half-breeds, as layers, but not so hardy.

What fowls are best layers? A. White Leghorns and Aylesbury ducks

Which grow fastest and make most dressed meat? A. Creve Cœus, light and dark Brahmas, or Aylesbury duck.

For eggs and flesh, which are the best? A. Houdans.

For flavor and tenderness of flesh, which breeds excel? A. Houdans, Dorcking or Game, and Rouen ducks.

For mothers, which have you found best? A. Game and Dorking.

Is Dorking hardy in this climate? A. No.

What feeding and range do you recommened? A. Ground feed, in the morning, mixed with warm water, whole grain at night, a little meat occasionally in the winter, with some broken oyster shells, all the range possible, and a good, warm house, are all that is necessary.

What is your opinion of poultry raising on a large scale? A. It can be done with great profit if the grounds and houses are large enough. Every hundred fowls should have at least an acre.

THE wife is the sun of the social system. Unless she attracts there is nothing to keep heavy bodies, like husbands. from flying off into space.

It is a good plan never to owe anybody more than you are able to pay, and allow no one to owe you more than you are able to lose.

Hoofland's German Bitters.

A Bitters without Alcohol or Spirits of any kind.

Is different from all others. It is composed of the pure Juices, or VITAL PRINCIPLE OF ROOTS, HERBS, and BARKS, (or, as medicinally termed, Extracts,) the worthless or inert portions of the ingredients not being used. Therefore in one Bottle of this Bitters there is contained as much medcinal virtue as will be found in several gallons or ordinary mixtures. The Roots, &c., used in this Bitters are grown in Germany, their vital principles extracted in that country by a scientific Chemist, and forwarded to the manufactory in this city, when they compounded and bottled. Containing no spirituous ingredients, this Bitters is free from the objections urged against all others: no desire for stimulants can be induced from their use, they cannot make drunkards, and cannot under any circustances, have any but a beneficial effect.

Hoofland's German Tonic,

Was compounded for those not inclined to extreme bitters, and is intended for use in cases when some alcoholic stimulant is required in connection with the Tonic properties of the Bitters. Each bottle of the tonic contains one bottle of the Bitters, combined with pure SANTA CRUZ RUM, and flavored in such a manner that the extreme bitterness of the bitters is overcome forming a preparation highly agreeable and pleasant to the palate, and containing the medicinal virtues of the Bitters. The price of the Tonic is $1,50 per Bottle, which many persons think too high. They must take into consideration that the stimulant used is guaranteed to be of a pure quality. A poor article could be furnished at a cheaper price, but is it not better to pay a little more and have a good article! A medicinal preparation should contain none but the best ingredients; and they who expect to obtain a cheap compound, and be benefittad by it, will most certainly be cheated.

HON. GEORGE W. WOODWARD, formerly Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania at present Member of Congress from Pennsylvania, writes:

PHILADELPHIA, March 16, 1871.

I find "Hoofland's German Bitters" is a good tonic, useful in diseases of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in case of debility and want of nervous action in the system. Yours, truly,
GEO. W. WOODWARD.

HON. JAS. THOMPSON, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania,

PHILADELPHIA, April 28, 1867.

I consider "Hoofland's German Bitters" a valuable medicine in case of attacks of indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my own experience of it.
Yours, with respect, JAS. THOMPSON.

HON. GEORGE SHARSWOOD, Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania,

PHILADELPHIA, June 1, 1868.

I have found by experience that "Hoofland's German Bitters" is a very good tonic, relieving dyspeptic symptoms almost directly.
GEORGE SHARSWOOD

HON. JAS. M. WOOD, Ex-Mayor of Williamsport, Pa.

I take great pleasure in recommending "Hoofland's German Tonic" to any one who may be afflicted with Dyspepsia. I had the Dyspepsia so badly it was impossible to keep any food on my stomach, and I became so weak, as not to be able to walk half a mile. Two bottles of Tonic effected a perfect cure. JAMES M. Or Wasting away of the Body.
REMEMBER THAT
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN REMEDIES

Are the medicines you require to purify the Blood, excite the torpid Liver to healthy action, and to enable you to pass safely through any hardships or exposure.

DR. HOOFLAND'S
PODOPHYLLIN,
Or Substitue for Mercury Pills.
TWO PILLS A DOSE.
The Most Powerful, Yet Innocent Vegetable Cathartic Known.

It is not necessary to take a handful of these Pills to produce the desired effect; two of them act quickly and powerfully, cleansing the Liver, Stomach and Bowels all impurities. The principal ingredient is Podophyllin, or the Alcoholic Extract of Mandrake, which is by many times more powerful, acting and searching than the Mandrake itself. Its peculiar action is upon the Liver, cleaning it specially from all obstructions, with all the power of Mercury, yet free from the injurious results attached to the use of that mineral.

For all diseases, in which the use of a cathartic is indicated, these pills will give entire satisfaction in every case. They NEVER FAIL.

In cases of Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia and extreme costiveness, Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters or Tonic should be used in connection with the Pills. The tonic effect of the Bitters or Tonic builds up the system. The Bitters or Tonic purifies the Blood, strengthens the Nerves, REGULATES the Liver, and gives strength, energy and vigor.

Keep your Bowels active with the Pills, and tone up the system with Bitters or Tonic, and no disease can retain its hold, or ever assail you.

Recollect that it is DR. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN REMEDIES that are so universally used and highly recommended; and do not allow the Druggist to induce you to take anything else that he may say is just as good, because he makes a larger profit on it. These Remedies will be sent by Express to any locality, upon application to the PRINCIPAL OFFICE, at the GERMAN MEDICINE STORE, 631 Arch St., Philadelphia.

CHARLES M. EVANS, PROPRIETOR.

Medical.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla.
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the symptom seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attacks of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seemes to breed infection throughout the body, and then on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various Ulcerous affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leycorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints; Torpidity, Congestion of Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are LANGUID and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

NEWSPAPER LAWS.

We would call the special attention of postmasters and our subscribers to the followinw synopsis of the newspaper laws:

1. A postmaster is required to give notice by letter, (seturning a paper does not answer the law,) when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office, and state the reasons for its not being taken; and a neglect to do so makes the postmaster responsible to the publishers for payment.

2. Any person who takes a paper faom the post-office, whether directed to his name or another's, or whether he has subscribed or not, reponsible for the payment.

3. If a person orders his paper to be discontinued, he must pay all arrearages, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount, whether it be taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until the payment is made.

4. If the subscriber orders the paper to be stopped at a certain time, and the publisher continues to send it, the subscriber is bound to pay for it, if he takes it out of the post-office. The law proceeds upon the ground that a man must pay for what he uses.

5. The Courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers and periodicals from the post-office, or removing and leaving them uncalled for, is prima-facie evidence of intentional fraud.

An exchange says: "Handling currency is the principal agency for the spread of the small-pox." This is why so few printers suffer from this disease.

The Clearfield Journal says: Stealing saw logs after they are sold, and sawing the ends off and re-selling them, is the latest dodge to make money on Whitmer run, in the southern part of this county. Clearfield is a Democratic county. Nuff said

Fact.—Hon. P. G. Meek drew the $100 sleigh at the Firemens' Fair, held during the holidays. The weather-boss became so indignant at the idea of Meek drawing the sleigh, that he refused to give us any snow, and there Meek's sleigh stands—no use at all, except to remind us of the indignation of the gods.

Mutilated Currency.—Postmasters, by a circular issued to all the offices, are required to accept mutilated currency under the new regulations, in payment for postage stamps and stamped envelopes on the same terms that it is received by the officers of the Treasury Department; that is to say, at the full face value when not more than two-fifths of its original proportions are missing.

Notice to Correspondents.—R. V. I.—Your Poem entitled "Through the Alleghenies," will appear next week.

"Silent Worker."—Your Poem entitled, "God's Beautiful Sky," is not bad, but you failed to send us your real name. We here repeat our rule:—"All communications, to insure insertion, must be accompanied by the authors real name—not for publication, but to prevent frauds.

The first regular monthly meeting of the Bellefonte Building & Loan Association, was held in the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., on last Saturday evening, at which time the subscription books were closed. The number of shares of stock subscribed is fifteen hundred, and the money paid in amounted to fourteen hundred and sixteen dollars, ($1,416).—There were twelve loans made, the premiums ranging from thirty-six to forty-eight per cent. The average premium on the whole number of loans being forty-three and one-third per cent.

Burned to Death.—An old man, by the name of Wm. Stambaugh, aged 62 years, who lived in a cabin about two miles from Sandy Ridge in this county, was found dead, badly burned, about 30 rods from his cabin, on the 19th inst.—The cabin had been burned to ashes, but when, or at what date, we have not been informed. From all we can learn, the old man had fled from his burning cabin, but not until he was so badly burned that he could only travel some thirty rods until he fell dead, where he was found on the 19th inst. A Coroners inquest was held, who declared that he came by his death in accordance with the above facts.

In a New Place.—S. S. Wolf, whose term of office as Treasurer of Centre Co, expired on the 2nd inst., has started up in a new place, associating with himself in business, Mr. H. D. Van Pelt. As Treasurer, Mr. Wolf was urbane, faithful, courteous, kind, No matter who called to see him in the Treasurer's office—Democrat or Republican—whether on business or otherwise, he always found Mr. Wolf in a pleasant mood, and ready to devote the necessary time to despatching the business of his visitors. We have not yet seen a statement of his settlement with the County Auditors, but understand that his books were well kept and all funds duly accounted for. This, the Report will show.

As above stated, Mr. Wolf and H. D. Van Pelt have purchased the Centre Hall Foundry and Machine Shops, and have engaged in the manufacturing of all kinds of farming implements, such as plows, reapers, hay-rakes, corn planters, &c. They have also provided themselves with the most improved patterns for castings of all kinds, while repairing is promptly attended to.

This is a strong and reliable firm. Of Mr. Van Pelt we need not speak in this connection, as he is known to the people of this county as a practical and first class business man. We wish the new firm success.

For the Republican.

The Millheim Institute.—The Sunday School Institute, held in Millheim last Tuesday and Wednesday, under the auspices of the Centre County S. S. Association, was a pleasing success. At the closing session, several of the ministers and prominent citizens of the place, testified to the pleasure and profit they had derived from the meeting.

The discussions covered a wide range of subjects, such as the influence of the Sunday School upon Religion in the family; Preparation of the Lesson; the attention of the scholar dependent upon the interest felt by the Teacher; the influence of the Sunday School upon public worship, &c.

The duty of all parents and adult persons to attend the Sunday School wherever possible, was forcibly and repeatedly impressed. The experience meeting called forth many touching remenicences.

Another delightful feature of the Institute, was the childrens' meeting. The members of the three Sunday Schools in the village, were promptly in their places. The Scripture lessons which they recited in concert, were admirably done. The same may be said of their singing, which consisted not merely of popular Sunday School airs, but also the good old church hymns and tunes.

The one idea most prominent in every session of this Institute, was, that work, earnest work, in the name of Christ, is essential to success in the Sabbath School.

Hunter's Run School.—Messrs. Editors:—I herewith submit a few lines, as a report of my school for two months, ending Jan. 8th, which you will please publish in your local columns: No. enrolled, males 13. females 10; average of school 18. Percentage, males 85, females 70—total 78. Average age of males 14 years, females 11. Number in each branch of study: Spelling, males 1, females 3; Reading, males 12, females 7; Writing, 12 and 7; Mental Arithmetic, 12 and 7; Written Arith. 12 and 7; Geography, 4 and 5; Grammar, 3 and 3; Composition, 6 and 4; U. S. History, 1; Declamation, 7 and 6; Vocal Music by the school; 1st, 2d and 3d reading classes; spell one lesson daily, on the book; series of books, regular. Three pupils have not missed a day, viz: Charles F. Shank, Alice A. Shank and Agnes A. Snyder. Anna C. Shank, absent only one day. No. of visitors, 10, with an average time of 2 hours and 18 minutes. I expect to furnish you with a still more encouraging report for the coming two month.

Very Respectfully Yours,
H. Thompson, Teacher.

430, Chestnut Street.—This is the address and place of business of Wm. F. Warburton. Warburton is emphatically the best hatter in the city of Philadelphia. His hats are the most fashionable and wear longer than any other manufactured in the city. On last Friday we received another of those inimitable hats which no man but Warburton can manufacture. It is a perfect beauty. Even the Associate Editor of the Watchman admits its superiority over all other hats. Persons wishing to purchase silk hats, should send the measure of their head to Mr. Warburton, 430 Chestnut Sureet, Phila., and they will receive by express, a hat, which for durability and beauty of finish, cannot be surpassed in the United States.

"Do Drop In."—This is the alluring motto which we see inscribed upon the sign of Joseph Hawkins, the urbane proprietor of the Logan Restaurant, on the corner of Allegheny and Bishop Sts. "Do drop In!" Oh what a text is here. We could preach a sermon if we had room, but we forbear. Mr. Hawkins is a very clever man, and we are informed, that he keeps a very excellent Restaurant. We also learn that he dropped into the meshes of a fair young lady, about the holidays, and had the Priest declare them man and wife. Joe is a member of the Logan Fire Company, and with his fair young wife, we wish him success in every undertaking. "Do Drop In." "Step into my parlor, said the spider to the fly."

Insure your Life in the "Equitable." John I. Pankin, Agent.

Court.—Court commenced on Monday last, in this place. Hon. C. A. Mayer presides with his usual dignity, and the new Associates, Hon. W. W. Love and Hon. H. Dopp, fill the Associates chairs in a manner that places Hon's Wm. Allison and Hosterman, the retiring judges, entirely in the shade. Republicans of Centre, if you had done your duty we would have had two Republican Associate Judges. Let us work for the future.

Keller & Musser.—This enterprising firm is determined to defy competition. They are receiving, every day, additional supplies to their already large and well selected stock. We are authorized to say that no firm in the town can sell lower, for cash, than will Messrs. Keller & Musser. See advertisement.

A Sad Discovery—A Man who Does not Take a Paper.—Some time ago a man, in company with a boy, entered the office of the People's Insurance Co., corner of Wood street and Fifth avenue, and pulling from his pocket a pass book, laid it on the counter. He then took out his wallet and was about unrolling some notes, when the Secretary of the company, Mr. Wm. F. Gardner, approached him and asked what was wanted. He replied that he wished to deposit some money. Mr. Gardner, noticing the name of Ph. R. Mertz upon the bank book, and apprehending the nature of the mistake, said, "this is not a bank, but an insurance office." The man looked surprised, and after gazing around the room, asked: "Is this not the banking house of Mr. Mertz?" Mr. Gardner replied: "Why, my dear sir, have you not learned that Mr. Mertz failed nearly a year ago, and shot himself?" The man turned suddenly pale, and seemed almost speechless. Leaning on his boy, he seemed as though he would faint and fall, when Mr. Gardner provided him with a chair and a glass of water. Recovering somewhat from the shock, he repeated the terrible words—"failed—shot himself"—as though he could not yet accept their fearful import. "Yes" said Mr. Gardner, "he committed suicide, and his business is in the hands of administrators." The man then gave his name, and said he had $1,600 on deposit with Mr. Mertz, as his book would show. He had saved a few hundred dollars more and came down to deposit that. "Where do you live?" asked Mr. Gardner, "that you never heard of the suicide?" The man answered that he lived up the Monongahela, and worked at coal digging, but he took no paper and had never heard of Mertz's death. Turning to his boy he said, in a sad and pitiful tone, "that sixteen hundred dollars cost us many months of hard toil, and now it is all gone." He explained to Mr. Gardner that he was saving this money to buy a farm; and now, when his hopes seemed almost realized, this bitter disappointment overcame him. He became very despondent, and spoke of "everything going against him," adding that he had lost a large sum of money, some years ago, through the dishonesty of a friend to whom he had loaned it. He was kindly advised to subscribe for a city paper before he left town, and keep himself posted in regard to what was transpiring about him. This he promised to do, and left. There is a balance of some $16,000, belonging to the estate of the late Mr. Mertz, in the hands of the Court, and this creditor ought to get his pro rata, but he will probably hear nothing of the fund until it is exhausted.—Pittsburgh Commercial.

The School Master Abroad.—A friend says the Journal hands us the following public notice of an election, taken from a blacksmith shop, in Clearfield county, which we publish, verbatim et literatim, as a specimen of the way business is done in that Gibraltar of modern Democracy:

"Notice To The Democrats of Morris township There Will be an Ellection held in Kylertown on the 29th of December 1871 for the purpose of Electing township offices one Judge of Election 1 Auditor one Inspector 2 Overseerers of the Poor Two Supervisors 1 Town Clerk 1 Constable Four School Directors for the Morrisdale School for the term of 3 years Kylertown for the term of 2 years Sylvan grove for the term of 1 year Pleasant hill for the term of 2 years.

LOT'S WIFE—A FEW THOUGHTS FOR CHILDREN.

BY SHABY.

Dear children, I thought, as several little children had asked me, at different times, to tell them all about Lot's wife, and to explain, as to whether she really did turn into a pillar of salt, and was broken off in little fragments by travelers many years after this wonderful punishment was inflicted upon her for disobeying the great and good God, that I would give you a few thoughts on the subject through the Republican, as briefly as possible.

It was God that sent the Angels to warn Lot to leave the doomed city (Sodom & Gomorrah) and you know that disobedience to God and to parents is a very great sin. Now, I fear that some children are in very great danger of being turned into a pillar of salt, or having some other sad affliction sent on them: but as most children would rather hear of other peoples faults, rather than their own, I must proceed with my story about Lot's wife, or old Mrs. Lot as she would be called in these latter days.

The Lord was pleased to direct Lot whither to fly for refuge. He said to Lot, "Escape to the mountains." The whole valley was doomed to destruction, therefore, the only place of safety was the distant hills. But Lot, aged, wearied and frightened, probably thinking his strength insufficient to reach one of them requested leave to retire to a small town that was nearer. It was the city of Zoar. This was Lot's weakness. For God who had brrought him out and directed him to flee to the mountain, was surely able to strengthen him to reach it.

This history teaches us that it is dangerous to choose for ourselves. Although Lot's request was granted and Zoar spared for his sake, yet it appears that he was obliged to leave it and dwell in a lonely cave in the mountains where he was very unhappy.

How much better, then, would it have been for Lot, to have obeyed God without regard to his own will, or selfishness. God would doubtless have conducted him to the mountain, and there he would have been safe. Lot, his wife and daughters, being delivered from Sodom, and on their way to Zoar, all appeared to be well. Lot, no doubt, remembered the divine injunction, "Look not behind thee." God's law, in the least commandment, as well as in the greatest, is holy and must be obeyed. Lot must not look back, for it would argue his unwillingness to leave Sodom, and his doubts as to whether, the threatning would be enforced, or carried out. At any rate it would occasion some delay. He obeys and at length gains the asked for asylum.

Not so with Lot's wife. She looks back, gives one long lingering look on the doomed city—the city of her nativity—and she perishes. The Bible tells us she was turned into a pillar of salt.

The apostacy of Lot's wife is a sad warning to all disobedient children. It is indeed a warning to all, old or young, who persist in sin, and in living in open and daily violation of God's holy law. She had not faith in God's promises, She looked back. Regardless of God's warning, of the divine injunction, she looked back upon the doomed city and immediately she became a pillar of salt.

The Messiah makes use of this item of Bible, history, when he says to his disciples "Remember Lot's wife." In the flight of the family, it is probable, that Lot, more fully convicted of the approaching danger than the rest of the family, took the lead. His wife (old Mrs. Lot) not attentive to the strict prohibition of, "Look not behind you," was inclined by some motive, to stop and look back on the devoted city.

Perhaps some Atheistical trifler will ask, "What great harm was there in that?" I answer much, very much. It was an act of disobedience. It was a contempt of the divine law, which is the very essence of sin. The chief end of man is to glorify God and enjoy him forever. Lot's wife, like many of her latter day sisters lost sight of this great truth.

Her sin was aggravated by her ingratitude. It was in losing sight of the goodness of God in delivering the family and saving them from the fate of the thousands about to perish. God resents with indignation the disregard of his mercies. There might have been a mixture of unbelief in the offence of Mrs. Lot. She stopped. She hesitated. No doubt her heart was troubled. She was leaving her home. She remembered the divine injunction, but nevertheless she disobeyed and looked behind her. She was turned into a pillar of salt. Oh! how many children are disobedient to the laws of God and to their parents. To them I would say "remember Lot's wife."

It appears that the love of the world was the principle sin of Mrs. Lot. She felt a strong attachment to the place, to the people, and perhaps hoped that the threatened destruction would not take place, and that she might return to the beloved city. With these hopes burning in her bosom, she stood gazing on the city yet in sight until the threatened storm overtook her.

Struck dead, probably by a flash of lightning, she was miraculously kept erect and soon incrusted by a shower of that nitro-sulpherous matter, which desolated the whole country. We learn from the holy scriptures and from several ancient and well authenticated historians, that she became a pillar of salt, and then remains to this day a standing monument, of the divine wrath against sin, selfishness and disobedience.

What must have been the feelings of Lot when he entered Zoar and missed the dear partner of his joys and sorrows—the mother of his children. What anxiety of mind, what fears for her safty would immediately arise in his heart? When the dreadful storm had ceased he would doubtless go in search of her; but who can conceive of his astonishment and grief, when he found her transformed into a rock of salt? What an awful addition was this to the loss of all his property and his two children who had perished in the flames? Here is another lesson in favor of strict obedience to parents. Had these children listened to the teaching of their father they would not have perished.

Lot having been educated by Abraham, the father of the faithful, was no doubt fully instructed in the knowledge of God, nor did he receive this instruction in vain. For the wickedness of these people vexed him from day to day, just as the sins of wicked men vex good people now. And what vexes a good father and mother more than to see their children growing up wicked and disobedient to the laws of God and to their parents? It makes them feel very much like righteous Lot, and vexes them from day to day.

"How to go West."—Forty years ago, Illinois was as far West as most people wished to go, and journeys were made in the legendary "Prairie Schooner," but in these days of Progress and Improvement, the word West has come to mean Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Colorado, California and the Territories, and the Traveler reaches almost any point therein by a splendid Line of Railroad.

This Line of Railroad is the Burlington Route, which starts from Chicago over the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy R. R., from Indianapolis over the Indianapolis, Bloomington & Wester Short Line, and from Logansport, over the Toledo, Peoria & Walsaw R. R., and running through Burlington, reaches Omaha, Lincoln, Nebraska City, St, Joseph, Atchison, Leavenworth and Kansas City, connecting with the Union Pacific, Kansas, Pacific and other Railroads running from those cities.

Always go "By way of Burlington," and you will be sure to be right,

The Burlington Route has admirably answered the question, "How to go West?" by the publication of a truthful and interesting document, filled with facts in regard to Time, Connections, Accommodations, rates of Fare and other interesting items, and illustrated by a large map, truthfully showing the whole West, which they distribute free of charge. Copies, and additional information, can be obtained by addressing, General Passenger Agent, B. & M. R. R., Burlington, Iowa. 4-3-3m.

"That angel babe so sweet, so fair,
Where is it? Echo answers where?
Whilst 'mid parental tears and sighs,
Hope glances upward to the skies.

"There, in that land that knows no blight
Her spirit basks in heavenly light,
Though fondly loved, and loving too,
Yet Jesus loved her still more true.

"He gave her first our heart's to enchain,
Then gently drew her back again;
And thus by golden links of love,
Now binds us to our home above."

Your attention is particularly requested to the following certificate referring to those old established remedies, "Hoofland's German Bitters', and "Hoofland's German Tonic," from that well known citizen,

IRA C. MITCHELL, ESQ.:

"Bellefonte, Pa., Oct. 27, 1871.

Sir:—I have just had the pleasure of meeting your Agent, the first representative of "Hoofland's German Bitters" and "Hoofland's German Tonic," it has ever been my good fortune to meet. For many years I have been purchasing and using them to the great comfort of myself, family and friends, having commenced their use on the recommendations of the Supreme Court Judges of this State. It affords me pleasure to have the opportunity to voluntarily recommend the same to all of my friends and acquaintances who may be suffering from Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Billiousness or affections of the Liver, of any kind.

Very Respectfully,
IRA C. MITHELL."
